Introduction

This report describes the company's primary methods of advocacy and political giving, including contributions made to political candidates and organizations in the United States. This report also provides an overview of the criteria and procedures that Best Buy follows when determining how to allocate funding to candidates, political parties or political organizations; ballot campaign initiatives; independent expenditures; and any broadcast ads mentioning a candidate (electioneering communications) on behalf of a federal, state or local candidate. Best Buy maintains a separate political activity and government affairs policy for employees to ensure compliance with our own requirements and those required by law. This report and the Best Buy Political Activity & Government Affairs Policy are reviewed annually by the Nominating, Corporate Governance and Public Policy Committee of the Best Buy Board of Directors.

Best Buy Employee Political Forum (PAC)

To encourage employee participation in the political process, Best Buy maintains the Best Buy Employee Political Forum PAC (Best Buy PAC), a voluntary non-partisan political action committee governed by the Federal Elections Campaign Act. Under the Act, the PAC cannot be funded with corporate dollars. Rather, it allows eligible employees and officers to pool their personal funds to help elect candidates who appreciate and understand the issues important to Best Buy and the retail industry.

The PAC is governed by a Board of Directors comprised of a diverse set of PAC members from across the company. It operates under formal by-laws, criteria and guidelines that inform its contributions including positions on issues, leadership roles, Best Buy presence in their state or district and personal integrity and alignment to company values.

Given the diversity of interests, viewpoints, and the broad constituencies represented by these candidates and organizations, the positions they take across a vast portfolio of issues will not always perfectly align with Best Buy's contribution criteria. In addition, candidate positions on issues can be constantly evolving or changing. In cases where positions or statements are made that do not align with company values, the PAC Board will take under full consideration and reserves the right to not contribute at all or, reconsider and/or withdraw support to previously supported candidates.

PAC contributions are made without regard to the personal political preferences of the Company's Executive Team, PAC Board members or any specific executive. The Best Buy PAC does not participate in Presidential campaigns.

Information related to the Best Buy PAC, including all receipts and disbursements, is reported regularly to the Federal Election Commission and is available for public viewing by visiting www.fec.gov

Review and Alignment

This report and the Best Buy Political Activity & Government Affairs Policy are reviewed annually by the Nominating, Corporate Governance and Public Policy Committee of the Best Buy Board of Directors.

In addition, the company’s political engagement strategy is regularly reviewed in the context of its overall priorities. Given the breadth and diversity of issues served by elected officials, the complex nature of the political process, and other factors, 100% alignment may not be achievable. Where necessary, potential conflicts are examined on a case-by-case basis with internal stakeholders to determine the most appropriate mitigation strategy.
